Gallo Slaying

May Start 'War'

NEW YORK (Reuter) The underworld gang led by Joseph Colombo was "very possibly" responsible for the slaying of rival gangleader Joseph (Crazy Joe) Gallo, a police spokesman said today. The police spokesman said the murder Friday of Gallo was one of 13 Mafia-connected murders in less than a year—

"some in gang rub-outs or assassinations. He said they had all oc-curred since Colombo was gunned down and almost killed at a rally of his own Italian-American Civil Rights League last June.

Gallo and Carlo Gambino, 33, alleged to have been the top Mafia men in Brooklyn, were generally thought to have been behind the shooting

Police have warned the Gallo killing could touch off a "real war." Police are searching for a man who burst through the back door of a restaurant, shot Gallo three times and his bodyguard once, and escaped. Gallo was taken to hospital in a police car, but was dead m a police ear, our was dead on arrival.

His bride of less than a month and his 10-year-old stepdaughter were led weep-ing from the hospital.

Gallo's bodyguard, Peter (Pete the Greek) Diapioulas, was treated in hospital for a minor shotgun wound and then charged with illegal pos-

Prisoners Stitch Protest

MOSCOW (Reuter) - Fifteen prisoners in a labor camp near Leningrad stitched their mouths shut in a protest last month against conditions there, says an underground journal which became avail-able Thursday.

Their action was reported in the March issue of the Chroni-cle of Current Events, a typewritten journal produced every two months.

Six of the protesters were immediately transfered to a special psychiatric hospital in Leningrad, while the re-mainder were put in solitary confinement, it said.

The head of the camp was reported to have been relieved of his duties following the incident. The report was not the first of its kind from a Soviet labor camp. Former prisoner Ana-toli Marchenko, in his book My Testimony, which was published in the West, cited numerous cases of self-mutilation by desperate Russian convicts.

Policies First In Vote Patterns

Emphasis on the leader of a party as most influential on viting preferences, highlighted during the Ontario election last Fall, is not found among the Canadian voting public as a whole.

More than twice as many voters (42%) say it is the policies of a party which make the most impact in deciding how they will vote, as name the party leader as most important (19%). Moreover the kind of local candidate they have, is named as the main influence by 34%. Attributes of the national leader in vote-getting is a low third on the list of key factors.

tional leader in vote-getting is a low third on the list of key factors.

Policles, are the most influential in making a decision for those who favor the NDP and other parties (54%). This compares with 49% among Liberals, and 42% among PC's. Adherents to all parties put party policies in first place.

Liberals are more likely to consider the national leader as most important to them, with 3 in 10 of this opinion, compared to about 2 in 10 among PC's, and rather less among the NDP and other parties.

It is the Conservatives who give a greater importance to the kind of local candidate they have (37%) than do the Liberals (27%) or the NDP and other parties (32%).

An important consideration lies in attitudes among the large number of voters who are undecided as to how they would vote in a Federal election, currently 26% of the total electorate. These "on the fence" voters put their local candidate in first place (38%) with party policies close to them (32%).

These voters are the least interested in the attributes of the national leader of any party as only 11% put him in first place.

The question:

"In a federal election, which influences your vote the most—the policies of a political party as a whole, the national leader of the party, or the kind of candidate the party has in your own riding?"

National attitudes are compared with opinions of adherents for the main parties in the table below. (These figures add to more than 100% due to multiple answers.)

National Local Can't

	Policies	Leader	Candidate	Sav
NATIONAL	42%	19%	34%	12%
Liberal voters	. 49	30	27	4
PC voters	- 42	20	37	5
NDP and others	. 54 .	17	32	5
Undecided voters		11	38	24

While voters are ready to put the policies of a party as the most influential on their voting behaviour, most of them are usually vague when they try to differentiate between parties. As one example, in 1969 the big majority (71%) thought there was no real difference between the Liberal and Conservative parties.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Friday urged the federal government to establish immediate curbs on interest rates, prices and wages in "the most dangerous inflationary period in the world's history."

Hijacker Hunted

PROVO, Utah (UPI) - Police said today they "have a suspect" in the half-million dollar ransom skyjacking of a United Air Lines jet.

Officers declined to give further information, but a Utah Highway Patrol spokesman said the suspect was "not in custody."

The skyjacker parachuted from the jet near the Proved airport and an all-night ground search was temporarily called off at dawn. At that time the police said they found "no sign of anything."

Several hours later police said they had the suspect.

The hijacker, threatening to explode a greenade, took over the plane a few minutes after it left Denver for Los Angeles. He forced it to fly to San Francisco where $500,000 and The skyjacker parachuted

Ups Forces

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command's offensive slowed in some sectors of South Vietnam today, but gathered steam in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, where rocket, mortar and small ground assaults nearly doubled.

The United States, meanwhile, rushed more planes and ships to Indochina to join a bombing campaign against mili-tary targets in North Vietnam.

Most of the Communist ground attacks were simed at regional and local-force militia outposts which form a defensive perimeter around villages and hamlets.

Field sources said initial reports indicated that easualties were not high, but that many troops were "missing." This indicated that many of the militiamen may have fied, been abducted or willingly accompanied the Communists.

In Washington, news columnist Jack Anderson writes that President Nixon is prepared to use nuclear weapons if the current North Vietnamese offensive threatens the orderly withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam.

Anderson says contingency plans drafted for nuclear war-fare in Indochina have been constantly revised and updated and are ready for use in case dwindling U.S. forces should be pushed into "a Dunkerque-like corner."

The columnist says "competent sources" stress the nuclear weapons would be used only as a last resort if Nixon concluded there was no other way to save American troops.

The secret plans called for using nuclear weapons of dif-ferent magnitudes, depending on the targets, Anderson says. He muotes sources as saying an air blast or ground blast

Meanwhile U.S. Defence Secretary Melvin Laird said United States planes will continue to bomb North Vietnam until Hanol pulls its army back across the so-called demilitarized zone and shows willingness to negotiate seriously.

"The enemy has shown no willingness to seriously negotiate in Paris," Laird told a news conference. "It has shown no movement back across the DMZ (demilitarized zone) and until those conditions are met, of course, we will continue to use the necessary power in order to protect our forces as they withdraw from Southeast Asia."

At the same time, he said U.S. ground troops will not be sent back into South Vietnam to help the hard-pressed South Vietnamese army fight the North Vietnamese offensive.

In Paris, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delega-tions to the Vietnam peace talks today denounced Laird's system appears to be one of the most puni-tive in North America, perhaps in the entire Western world, says Dr. Victor Matthews, a University of Alberta scientist.

Hundreds of Albertans are jailed each year for offences which would bring acquittal, suspended sentences or probation in other provinces, he said in an interview.

He bases his statements on a two-year research of the 1960-70 period. Results of the project are contained in a 150-page report prepared for the Alberta Human Resources Research Council and released Friday.

The report shows that a person charged in Alberta is four times more likely to be convicted than anywhere else in Canada, said

The per-capita rate for persons jalled in Alberta was eight times above the national average and-was increasing. Alberta Attorney - General Merv Leitch said Friday night Marthews' charges will be closely scrutinized by the government. The minister told the legislature the charges are 'very serious' and that changes will be made if a study shows them to be necessary.

Justice is Rough in Alberta

"It is the police and the courts which must bear the responsibility for a concept of justice in Alberta that differs significantly from that of Canada as a whole," Matthews

The report says Alberta's rates in almost all categories of the justice system—arrest, charge, court appearance, sentencing and jail—are higher than the rest of Canada.

Dr. Matthews, a recognized authority on statistics and social research, said it's unlikely that increased criminal activity in Alberta caused the differences.

Convictions for serious crimes have decreased in the province, says the report, and the majority of crime is minor. However, even for minor offences, excluding traffic infractions, a person arrested in Alberta was twice as likely to be convicted than in another province. The pattern was the same for serious crimes.

Dr. Matthews said the number of persons jailed in Alberta between 1960 and 1970 in-creased 71.1 per cent compared with the Ca-nadian average increase of eight per cent. Population growth in Canada and Alberta was about 28 per cent during those 10 years

The number of persons jailed in Quebec during that period increased 39 per cent, in Saskatchewan 22 per cent and in New Brunswick and British Columbia 16 per cent. The other five provinces saw jail populations de-

U.S. Ruling Cuts Sea Bed For Canada

HALIFAX (CP) - A Halifax-based expert on the inter-national law of the sea said Tuesday a recent United States proposal on ownership of the sea bed would keep the U.S. continental shelf in American hands while giving much of Canada's shelf away.

Let It Be This Year

Mayor Pollen and Alderman Savage have set the scene for an excellent break-through in guaranteeing the future of the Thetis Lake parkland. They see that it is advisable for the Capital Regional District to take over this regionally used property, and they say it should he done this year. This is very encouraging news.

The continued existence of the lake and its surroundings as a public recreational area, while seemingly secure, is in fact still precarious. Any council, motivated by a mad impulse, could sell off the property to subdividers or loggers. It is essential that the land be safeguarded beyond any doubt from any such a fate. This can be done only through its dedication as a

A second form of safeguarding is also necessary. An area of 245 acres lying adjacent to the parkland's western boundary is privately owned and drains into Upper Thetis Lake. This situation has been deplored by naturalists as a danger to the lake, for there could be heavy pollution from drainage if the 245 acres - part of a propased subdivision twice that size were to be turned into housing sites. It is therefore necessary for the conservation of the lake that the drainage area be taken within the parkland boundaries. This will no doubt be expensive, but it must be recognized as a necessary insurance for the future of the priceless 1,100-aere parkland.

The argument that the city will lose a $5-million asset if the Thetis Lake area is dedicated as a park or allowed to pass into regional ownership is a specious one when voiced along with protestations that the undedicated land will never be used for anything but a park. The property, as a city asset to support bond issues, can have that cash value only if the implication is that it can be sold for other purposes. Thus, to describe it as inviolable "park" yet in effect hypothecate it as salable commercial land is unethical, to say the least

The city's over-all credit will not suffer through the guaranteed existence of one of the finest natural parks on this continent, and the sooner the book-keeping charade is ended and the park permanently dedicated the better it will

Parks belong to those who use them, and Thetis is used by the people of the whole region. Victoria can lose nothing by turning it over to the regional authority, for Victoria citizens will still have free access to the area. The city will in fact gain, for it will be relieved of the annual cost of maintenance, replacement of dressing facilities, and other expenses. It would be appropriate for the region to reimurse the city by a nominal payment based on recent expenditures for upkeep, as Alderman Savage suggests, and if necessary this could be arranged on an instalment basis, as was the Beaver-Elk Lake transfer from city to regional ownership.

Victorians should support the latest move to solve this important problem. There will be no better year to do it than this year. It will be one of the most rewarding and most far-reaching achievements of the city council and the regional authority when completed.

At Home

The "open house" of fish trollers alongside the Causeway tomorrow should not only be well attended but should draw attention to one of the city's wital industries. Earlier fears that the fleet might have to relocate at Sooke have subsided, and word is expected shortly from the federal Public Works Department on the application to accommodate 160 extra berths at the Erie Street docks.

There is still a pressing need for tie-up space, though, and future needs caused by boats turned away from their ports in the Vancouver area will add to the pressure. Long-range plans to make room for 700 to 1,000 boats in the View Royal area four or five years hence are already under way.

With sufficient land made available there could be an effort to simulate San Francisco's Fisher: man's wharf - a popular attraction for visitors and residents.

Closely connected with the prosperity of the fishermen and one of the reasons for display this eekend is the matter of Canadian jurisdiction over the continental shelf. A declaration of jurisdiction might be premature now but Canadian policy is clearly moving in that direction. In any case, it would be best to reach the objective by conference rather than con-

BRUCE HUTCHISON

No End to Our Vital Debate

Spring Stroll

It is not in the least surprising that the Club of Rome and its experts in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology are under furious attack from practical men of affairs. To the theory that our planet will be poisoned and depleted within half a century or so, as we are going now, the practical men make two

First, they say, the experts' figures are misleading because the wrong data were put into the computers at Cam-bridge, Massachusetts, Second, they say, technology will soon find a cure for pol-lution and synthesize plenty of new materials before the old ones are used up. So, really, there is nothing to worry

Thus, The Economist of London, which is fortunate enough to know everything and has never made a mistake, dismisses all fears for man's fu-ture physical comfort with a royal snift of contempt. Even a couple of hasty, inadequate pieces written by this reporter from Cambridge the other day attracted some kindly tut-tutting rebules from Ca-nadian scientists who noted, quite right-ity, that I didn't understand the facts. Nor do they, for that matter. Nobody does, yet.

Supposing that the computers have misjudged the rate of pollution and depletion, supposing that the atmosphere and the planet's raw resources last longthan the Club of Rome expects, this mathematical argument surely misses the main point. It has not been missed, however, by one distinguished European and a practical man by any standard.

Sicco Mansholt, a Dutchman, and new president of the European Common Market Commission, recently made the main point in an extraordinary statement from his headquarters at Brussels. The famous economist, long concerned with Europe's economic growth, said: "I don't pay much attention to gross national product. In all our states has been something sacred. But it's the devil. We must think instead in terms of the happiness of our people. This means gross national happiness. It's essential lem to produce guidelines for the future. overcome this diabolical growth. Thinking of the dangers that threaten the planetary environment, he added: "We have very little time to lose - maybe 40 years.

Such shattering heresy from a high priest of economics must make the layman's mind reel. Yet the same thing has been said in Canada by its prime minthough he was not as candid as Mr. Mansholt. Mr. Trudeau merely suggested that, after all, the gross national product might not be the supreme deity for man's worship, whereas Mr. Mansholt denounces it as the devil.

These two distinguished men share a heresy but their circumstances are en-tirely different. The European is a manager, a technocrat and international civil servant, not a politician. He need not worry about popularity and votes. The Canadian is a politician desperately in need of both,

Moreover, Mr. Trudeau's whole national policy, and his search for a Just Society, depend upon the fastest possible economic growth. As a private philosepher he may not worship in the tem-ple of the GNP. As a public figure he kneels reverently before that ancient idol and his white paper on foreign policy economic growth among the nation's highest priorities.

It is easy, of course, to criticize Mr. Trudeau's ambivalence, though most of his critics are more ambivalent and less intelligent than he. It is easy to see that we need economic growth, in Canada and the practical men.

if not for the rich. And easy, also, to understand (however inaccurate the Cambridge computers may be) that world-wide economic growth on anything like the North American and European scale would exhaust the planet even more rapidly than the computers pre-

But the main point still remains. As Mr. Mansholt puts it, how are we to achieve "gross national happiness" the only worthwhile objective for all men? We have generally assumed, up to now, that it would be achieved if everyone enjoyed the Western world's standard of living; that there would be no serious trouble or violence among the poor majority of mankind if every native of Asia, Africa or South America, for example could own an automobile, a colored television set and a split-level house. For two reasons this assumption is obviously

Not the Goal

In physical terms the underdeveloped nations cannot achieve our standard of living within the visible future and would finally pollute and exhaust the planet if they did. In non-physical terms this achievement, if it were possible, would not reach Mr. Mansholt's goal of gross national happiness. How can anyone sup-pose that it would, on the actual evidence before us already?

The highest living standard ever known in man's brief 5,000 years of civilization exists today in the United States, with a slightly lower standard in Canada. Will anyone say that the American people have also reached a similar standard of happiness? On the contrary, I would think that they are among the unhappiest people in the world because they have intelligence enough to understand their dilemma and honesty enough to admit their mistakes.

Our Canadian standard of happiness unlike the economic figures, is probably much higher than that of our neighbors but surely not high enough to deny Mr. Mansholt's thesis. If it is useless to quibble about the figure, which cannot be measured anyhow, it is clear that the great debate launched by the misnamed Club of Rome has only begun. present reader, even if he is a small boy, will not live to see the end of it. But he will see some interesting changes beyond the reach of the computers, the theorists

Addicted to Our Border

Next to the horsetails, whose perseverance could teach lessons to Robert the Bruce's spider, dandelions and chickweed are the most enduring native plants on our lot. But, among the introduced, we have to genuflect to the persistence of a poppy.

Its roots were established in our domain during a previous generation.

Mother had a fondness for poppies — purely for their decorative effect, of

That fondness extended to several varieties. At one time our garden could have qualified as the vision of Sam Coleridge. Thomas De Quincey or Sherlock being a bit previous, ever showed up to admire the scene, but the police did, and they weren't admiring. They told Mother to get rid of the poppies, particularly one which bushed out and threw a purple

Pilfering Poppies

Such growth, said the gentlemen of the law, was banned in Canada and, when in bloom, constituted an open invitation to intrusion by some poppy-admiring immigrants from a foreign land True enough, there were two or three instances in which these arrivals from alien parts - we hadn't learned to call them new Canadians then - passed our gateway and gazed dreamy-eyed on the

So, under protest, we dug out the of-fending plants, retaining only what we believed to be acceptable popples in the border. Then a municipal police officer told us those also would have to go. Over a period of years we succeeded in eradicating all but one plant. On the single survivor we work every year, thinking we have either rooted it out, killed it with spray — when spraying was acceptable — or so cut it back that it was bound to succumb.

Each year it fools us — rising rebust-ly in the border and defying any stick we launch against it. It has come up again this year. We'll smite it once more. But don't lay any bets that it won't appear in 1973.

While we have been waging this lawand-order crusade in an effort to strike narcotic addiction at its base, a lady gardener in our locality, who also liked poppies, until econtly, had been glorying in a fine showing of the plant introduced from Asia. Her admiration for the showy blooms was entirely ismocent—until she learned of our problems with the police. Now she shares our coheern and wants to stamp out the poppy being law-abiding also.

Decoration or Menace

Her fervor intensified in the not so distant past when a man she had known as a schoolboy, and who had fallen by the wayside, paid her an unexpected visit and professed his deep admiration for her beautiful crop. Always fond of popples, he explained. Could be gather a bouquet? Acquainted with his difficulty, she refused his request and told him never to come back. Then she redoubled her digging.

In point of fact, one of the best informed botanists in this part of the world tells me that only Papaver Somniferum, the so-called opium poppy, is under inon in this country. But police, who may not be among the world's most distinguished botanists, have had their aces with the different varieties of the species.

A generation ago, it was not uncomenon to read police reports in which gar-deners complained about the depreda-tions of a particular ethnic group which invaded their property and picked them-selves rather lavish bunches of the flower. The explanation by veteran police of-ficers was that the horticulturallyinclined pilferers took their blooms home and brewed a sort of poppy tea. It wasn't epium in the refined sense, but it in-duced, the officera believed, a pleasur-

Many poppies, my botanist friend explains, have a limited amount of toxic content, and he sympathizes with policemen who may be confused on the niceities of differentation.

Mixed Reaction

At all events, poppies find massive unpopularity in some areas, vicious potential in others, and simple delight among various people. Fine as an ornament; horrendous as a source of opium for illegal use; a cause of irrita-tion for some specialized guardians of

Yet, to the innocent, it can be such a pretty flower. And, if recollections of ood are accurate, it can also be the best material available for the production of a Chinese doll. B.C.'s teachers had a lot of tough and angry things to say at their convention this week, but for the most part their anger false bravado.

Sure, the delegates of the C. Teachers Federation approved the calling of a strike vote — and the word "vote" should be heavily emphasized as well as establishment of a $1.25 million fund for so-called political action.

But when they took a minute or two to think about those actions, the follow-through that is necessary to make their campaign against the provincial government a success did not materialize.

These same delegates, about 700 of them representing, the province's 23,000 teachers, voted against building up the federation's strike fund and were not willing to make a decision on the issue make a decision of the de make a decision on the issue of affiliation with the B.C Federation of Labor.

There are several reasons why the delegates to the convention chose not to carry through the militant aims professed by re-elected president Adam Robertson and his top lieutenant, first vice-president Jim MacFarlan.

One is that they started to think about the people back home in Nakusp and Lower Post and Salmon Arm those teachers who are going to be paying the shot for the political action to the tune of a full day's pay and realized that they had stepped far enough out on the limb by

The point is that most of the teachers in the province will not even consider the possibil-ity of strike action for any length of time and will not put themselves in the position where they are faced with a picket line and the decision whether or not to cross it.

Another argument at the convention was that teachers are too "professional" to go on strike or man picket lines in sympathy with other work ing groups. Another is that they realize the futility of trying to beat the Social Credit government to the hearts of fund and affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labor were not approved.

This last argument would explain why a sizable strike

Perhaps the main reason why it is so difficult, and will remain to be so difficult, for the teachers to win over voter support in the province came out in a relatively un-publicized speech on Wednes-day, the convention's third creases up to 6.5 per cent.

The question teachers must ask themselves as they enter the political arena against those old veterans the Socreds is whether or not the public will be willing to finance this one per cent difference.

It could be that the tough talk by Robertson and Mac-Farlan is merely a device to save a little face for the teachers, who have seen the government pull the rug out from under their bargaining rights.

The incendiary words of the two men, especially Robert-son, indeed solidified the teachers' feelings, if applause and standing ovations are any criteria.

But even they could not move the delegates far enough to get a bigger strike fund approved. And when the time came for a decision on affiliation with labor, it was the same Robertree and West. the same Robertson and Mac-Farlan who pushed for a one year's delay, which was the final result.

The change in the tactical

Robertson is a very soft-spoken, low-key person. He has been a teacher for some 40 years in the backwoods of the province and until the last few months was a highly un-likely candidate for the label of "militant."

But then things got tough for the teachers with the gov-enment's intervention in bargaining and Robertson got tough in his statements. He called for the defeat of the Socreds and urged a heavy campaign of political action.

He got the support he wanted at the convention. But, with what remains of the man's basic caution, he was unwilling for the federation to decide on the affiliation issue and will now have to wait and will now have to wait through a full year of govern-ment attacks and bargaining losses before he gets anything behind him other than an advertising campaign.

The teachers, as they stand today, lack the muscle and the solidarity among themselves to be able to confront the government on the issues which they consider impor-

Meanwhile, back home, the expected ex-citement of the Democratic primaries are lost upon the American electorate, for there is the president, going about making peace in the world, and there are a dozen Democratic candidates for the office going about making fools of themselves, getting fools of themselves, getting bombed by George Wallace, weeping outside newspaper cal straws. (While Nixon is in Canada, vital Democratic sachusetts and Pennsylvania will be coming to a peak.) .

Spies in Ottawa and informants in Washington (I have a friend who operates Jack Anderson's paper shredder) tell me that the Nixon-Trudeau game plan has been developed to give maximum recognition to the political needs of both, and simultaneously. I shall explain.

On Saturday, April 15, the ister will descend upon Toron-to. They will ride through the great metropolis in the president's own limousine, with bubble, dispensing beautific smiles upon an admiring pop-ulace. And why, you may ask,

Because they are on their the Royal York Hotel where in full sight of the cameras of ABC, CBS, NBC, CBC and CTV, they will ratify the U.S. pollute the Great Lakes! Thus will Mr. Nixon make himself useful to Mr. Trudeau, and, certainly vice-versa

The president of the United States has been slow to grasp the issue of pollution, but, in his characteristic way, he is not slow to move, once his polls have shown him the light. At long last, on the very shores of Lake Ontario, the President will formally affirm commitment of substantial sums of U.S. dollars to clean up the American shores of Lakes Ontario, Erie and Huron. Since the Province of Ontario has already acted in nearly all substantive matters on the Canadian shores, the cost to the Canadian Government of signing the agree-ment is only a little more than the price of the ball-point game-plan works, I can only conclude that Mr. Trudeau will call an election someti during the week following the Nixon visit and we shall be

DARK NEWS IN CAPE TOWN

By STANLEY HVS London Observer

CAPE TOWN — A six-year genetic research program conducted by Dr. M. C. Botha, the immunologist who worked with Professor Christiaan Barnard's heart transplant team, discloses that the Afrikaner people in South Africa have an average of 7 per cent of "non-white" blood in their veins and not 1 per cent as has been accepted since Dr. H. T. Colenbrander published his findings in 1902.

Dr. Botha has also found that South Africa's two million Colored people of mixed-race descent have 34 per cent "white" blood. He thus contradicts Government claims that the Colored people are derived almost entirely from indigenous Bushmen and Hottentots and imported eastern slaves,

His findings, which are being published here this week will infuriate many Afrikaner leaders.

The initial reason for his researches, he says, was to determine the distribution of Rh factors in a multiracial

Dr. Botha had been examining the brother of one of South Africa's most prominent Afrikaner politicians who suffered from a blood disease usually found only among the indig nous people of Africa. The man died because he was treated with the wrong drugs.

"It was then that I first realized the tremendous impor-At was then that I first realized the tremendous impor-tance of a greater awareness among doctors of the possibility of diseases occurring among whites which are usually as-sociated with Africans. Only as the study evolved did I real-ize that the scientific findings could be linked with the fas-cinating historical facts which were emerging. It was then that I saw the merit of publishing the results to give the Col-ored man an identity. ored man an identity.

"I feel it's time the Colored man knew the facts. It's time he knew that he is not only descended from slaves and Hottentots. It's time he realized that he has all the faults and all the virtues of three continents — and all the potentialities."

By coincidence, Dr. J. A. Heese, a former Dutch Re-formed Church archivist, has just reached an almost iden-tical conclusion. His finding is that Afrikaners have 6.9 per cent of non-white blood. Dr. Heese based his analysis on birth and marriage registers.

He found that Afrikaners' color-consciousness became manifest in about 1800 — about 150 years after the first Dutch settlement of the Cape.

He estimates that between 1770 and 1807 the percentage of non-white blood among the whites was 13.6 per cent. He says it is "encouraging" for the survival of the Afrikaner that the percentage of non-white blood has diminished since

WASHINGTON — Professor Kissinger, who has been ar-ranging President Nixon's ranging President Nixon visit to the Soviet Union, has with the Kremlin leaders. The difficulty arises from the president's desire to make his televised appearances in the Soviet Union just as diverting as his recent appearances in China, In Peking one of the great moments occurred at a state banquet when the President surprised the television audience by eating his dinner with chopsticks. The president does not want

The president has, in fact, so proficient on the r that among the samovar one that begins, "President Nixon last night became the first American president to make tea from a samovar in the Kremlin . . ."

That press release will probably have to be scrapped. The Russians, although insisting that they are willing to go to great lengths to make the trip a success, say they have polled the members of the Central Committee and found that 82 per cent want coffee instead of tea after dinner

They say it would be a gross provocation for the president to ignore the prefer-ence of the majority and concentrate his attention upon the out-of-step few who want

If the president wants to make the coffee, they have told Professor Kissinger, they will not object.

Professor Kissinger has inquired whether the coffee could be made in a samovar. The Soviet Central Banqueting Collective has replied that it takes years to learn to make a good cup of coffee in a samovar. It would be more practical the White House practical, the White House has been advised, for the president to leave the ban-queting hall, go into the kitch-en and make the coffee in five 10-gallon vats similar to those used in American drugstores. Leonid Brezhnev, the head Communist, has personally in-tervened in the samovar issue. Here's what's different about this pipe. It's the first pipe in the world to use an entirely new principle for giving unadulterated pleasure to smokers. It's so different in smoking quality that its patented in the United States, Canada and other countries.

It's different than any pipe ever in-ented. It amokes COOLER—MEL-OWER—SWEETER—and DRIER. Even dyed in the wool cigarette amokers find it easier to smoke and enjoy than any pipe, or any cigar they've ever tried. Some say it's as easy as switching from one brand of cigarettes to

You'll never go back to cigarettes again. No cigarette, no cigar, nor any other pipe can give you the full rich flavor, aroma, deep down satisfaction, enjoyment, and peace of mind that you get from a Carey Pipe.

Here is the way of it; The hazards of cigarette amoking are not new, Long before the Surgeon General issued his nerve shattering report on SMOKING AND HEALTH, evidence that cigarette smoking was associated with Cancer, coronary artery disease, chronic bronchitis, and emphysems, was mounting rapidly. It was then that I decided to switch to a pipe. That was over 30 years ago.

Like most other cigarette smokers I just couldn't tolerate the goo, the bit terness, the tongue bite, and that stale, foul, after-taste that results from smoking an ordinary pipe. As a result I dedicated hundreds of spurs searching for the ideal pipe—buying alt the disappointing gadgets, and never finding a single, solitary pipe that would smoke hour after hour, day after day, without bitterness, bite or sludge. In diagust I gave up and went back to cigarette—and of course back to COUGHING, WHEEZING, CHOKING.

It was then I decided to try to work something out on my own, something that would not leave my mouth tasting like the proverbial blacksmith's glove. Thousands of experiments and five long disappointing sears later, almost by accident, I hit upon a solution. A solution as simple but so effective that it made smoking a pipe an entirely new and exciting smoking experience. By harnessing four great natural laws this invention gives you everything you want in a satisfying smoke. It doesn't require any breaking in, from the first puff, right down to the last bit of tobacco. I guarantee it to smoke cool and mild hour after hour, day after day, without rest, without bite, bitterness or sludge.

Let It Be This Year

Mayor Pollen and Alderman Savage have set the scene for an excellent break-through in guaranteeing the future of the Thetis Lake parkland. They see that it is advisable for the Capital Regional District to take over this regionally used property, and they say it should be done this year. This is very encouraging news.

The continued existence of the lake and its surroundings as a public recreational area, while seemingly secure, is in fact still precarious. Any council, motivated by a mad impulse, could sell off the property to subdividers or loggers. It is essential that the land be safeguarded beyond any doubt from any such a fate. This can be done only through its dedication as a park.

A second form of safeguarding is also necessary. An area of 245 acres lying adjacent to the parkland's western boundary is privately owned and drains into Upper Thetis Lake. This situation has been deplored by naturalists as a per to the lake, for there could heavy pollution from drainage if the 245 acres - part of a propased subdivision twice that size were to be turned into housing sites. It is therefore necessary for the conservation of the lake that the drainage area be taken within the parkland boundaries. This will

The argument that the city will lose a $5-million asset if the Thetis Lake area is dedicated as a park or allowed to pass into regional ownership is a specious one when voiced along with protestations that the undedicated land will never be used for anything but a park. The property, as a city asset to support bond issues, can have that cash value only if the implication is that it can be sold for other purposes. Thus, to describe it as inviolable "park" yet in effect hypothecate it as salable commercial land is unethical, to say the least.

The city's over-all credit will not suffer through the guaranteed existence of one of the finest natural parks on this continent, and the sooner the book-keeping charade is ended and the park permanently dedicated the better it will

Parks belong to those who use them, and Thetis is used by the people of the whole region. Victoria can lose nothing by turning it over to the regional authority, for Victoria citizens will still have free access to the area. The city will in fact gain, for it will be relieved of the annual cost of maintenance, replacement of dressing facilities, and other expenses. It would be appropriate for the region to reimourse the city by a nominal payment based on recent expenditures for upkeep, as Alderman Savage suggests, and if necessary this could be arranged on an instalment basis, as was the Beaver-Elk Lake transfer from city to regional ownership.

Victorians should support the latest move to solve this important problem. There will be no better year to do it than this year. It will be one of the most rewarding and most far-reaching achievements of the city council and the regional authority when completed.

At Home

The "open house" of fish trollers alongside the Causeway tomorrow should not only be well attended but should draw attention to one of the city's vital industries. Earlier fears that the fleet might have to relocate at Sooke have subsided, and word is expected shortly from the federal Public Works Department on the application to accommodate 160 extra berths at the Erie Street docks.

There is still a pressing need for tie-up space, though, and fuds caused by boats turned away from their ports in the Vancouver area will add to the pressure. Long-range plans to make room for 700 to 1,000 boats in the View Royal area four or five years hence are already under way.

With sufficient land made available there could be an effort to simulate San Francisco's Fisherman's wharf - a popular attraction for visitors and residents, Closely connected with that prosperity of the fishermen and one of the reasons for display this weekend is the matter of Canadian jurisdiction over the continental shelf. A declaration of jurisdiction might be premature now but Canadian policy is clearly moving in that direction. In any case, it would be best to reach the objective by conference rather than confliet.

Sunday's "at home" should help to remind Victorians that they live in a fishing port.

No End to Our Vital Debate

Spring Stroll

It is not in the least surprising that the Club of Rome and its experts in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology are under furious attack from practical men of affairs. To the theory that our planet will be poisoned and depleted within half a century or so, as we are going now, the practical men make two

First, they say, the experts' figures are misleading because the wrong data were put into the computers at Cambridge, Massachusetts. Second, they say, technology will soon find a cure for pollution and synthesize plenty of new materials before the old ones are used up. So, really, there is nothing to we

Thus, The Economist of London which is fortunate enough to know everything and has never made a misake, dismisses all fears for man's future physical comfort with a royal sniff of contempt. Even a couple of hasty, inadequate pieces written by this reporter from Cambridge the other day attracted some kindly tut-tutting rebukes from Canadian scientists who noted, quite rightly, that I didn't understand the facts. Nor do they, for that matter, Nobody

Missing the Point

Supposing that the computers have misjudged the rate of pollution and depletion, supposing that the atmosphere and the planet's raw resources last longer than the Club of Rome expects, this mathematical argument surely misses the main point. It has not been missed, ver, by one distinguished European and a practical man by any standard.

Sicco Mansholt, a Dutchman, and pew president of the European Common Market Commission, recently made the ment from his headquarters at Brussels The famous economist, long concerned with Europe's economic growth, said:

"I don't pay much attention to gross national product. In all our states has been something sacred. But it's the devil. We must think instead in terms of the happiness of our people. This means gross national happiness. It's essential lem to produce guidelines for the future, to overcome this diabolical growth. Thinking of the dangers that thr planetary environment, he added: "We have very little time to lose - maybe 40

Such shattering heresy from a high priest of economies must make the layman's mind reel. Yet the same thing has been said in Canada by its prime minister, though he was not as candid as Mr. Mansholt. Mr. Trudeau merely suggested that, after all, the gross national product might not be the supreme deity for man's worship, whereas Mr. Man-worry about popularity and votes. The Canadian is a politician desperately in need of both.

Moreover, Mr. Trudeau's whole national policy, and his search for a Just Society, depend upon the fastest possi-ble economic growth. As a private philosepher he may not worship in the tem-ple of the GNP. As a public figure he kneels reverently before that ancient idol and his white paper on foreign policy economic growth among the nation's highest priorities.

It is easy, of course, to crificize Mr. Trudeau's ambivalence, though most of his critics are more ambivalent and less ligent than he. It is easy to see that we need economic growth, in Canada and the practical men. -d. really - and elsewhere, for the benefit of the poor if not for the rich. And easy, also, to understand (however inaccurate the Cambridge computers may be) that world-wide economic growth on anything like the North American and European scale would exhaust the planet even more rapidly than the computers pre-

But the main point still remains. As Mr. Mansholt puts it, how are we to achieve "gross national happiness" the only worthwhile objective for all men? We have generally assumed, up to now, that it would be achieved if everyone enjoyed the Western world's standard of living; that there would be no serious trouble or violence among the poor majority of mankind if every native of Asia Africa or South America, for example, could own an automobile, a colored television set and a split-level house. For two reasons this assumption is obviously

In physical terms the underdeveloped nations cannot achieve our standard of living within the visible future and would pollute and exhaust the planet if they did. In non-physical terms this achievement, if it were possible, would not reach Mr. Mansholt's goal of gross national happiness. How can anyone sup-pose that it would, on the actual evidence before us already?

The highest living standard ever known in man's brief 5,000 years of civilization exists today in the United States. with a slightly lower standard in Canada. Will anyone say that the American people have also reached a similar standard of happiness? On the contrary, I would think that they are among the umhappiest people in the world because they have intelligence enough to under-stand their dilemms and houesty enough to admit their mistakes.

Our Canadian standard of happiness unlike the economic figures, is probably much higher than that of our neighbors but surely not high enough to deny Mr. Mansholt's thesis. If it is useless to quibble about the figure, which cannot be measured anyhow, it is clear that the great debate launched by the misnamed Club of Rome has only begun. present reader, even if he is a small boy, will not live to see the end of it. Its roots were established in our domain during a previous generation.

Mother had a fondness for poppies —
purely for their decorative effect, of course.

That fondness extended to several varieties. At one time our garden could have qualified as the vision of Sam Coleridge, Thomas De Quincey or Sherlock Holmes. Neither Sam, Tom nor Sherlock, being a bit previous, ever showed up to admire the scene, but the police did, and they weren't admiring. They told Mother to get rid of the popples, particularly one which bushed out and threw a purple flower.

Pilfering Poppies

Such growth, said the gentlemen of the law, was banned in Canada and, when in bloom, constituted an open invitation to intrusion by some poppy-admiring immigrants from a foreign land. True enough, there were two or three in stances in which these arrivals from alien parts - we hadn't learned to call them new Canadians then - passed our gateway and gazed dreamy-eyed on the

DARK NEWS IN CAPE TOWN

By STANLEY UYS London Observer

CAPE TOWN - A six-year genetic research pr conducted by Dr. M. C. Botha, the immunologist who we with Professor Christiaan Barnard's heart transplant team discloses that the Afrikaner people in South Africa have ar average of 7 per cent of "non-white" blood in their veins and not 1 per cent as has been accepted since Dr. H. T Colenbrander published his findings in 1902.

Dr. Botha has also found that South Africa's two million Colored people of mixed-race descent have 34 per cent "white" blood. He thus contradicts Government claims that the Colored people are derived almost entirely from indigenous Bushmen and Hottentots and imported eastern slaves.

His findings, which are being published here this week will infuriate many Afrikaner leaders.

The initial reason for his researches, he says, was to determine the distribution of Rh factors in a multiracial

"It was then that I first realized the tremendous importance of a greater awareness among doctors of the possibility of diseases occurring among whites which are usually, associated with Africans. Only as the study evolved did I realize that the scientific findings could be linked with the fascinating historical facts which were emerging. It was then that I saw the merit of publishing the results to give the Colored man an identity. ***

"I feel it's time the Colored man knew the facts. It's time he knew that he is not only descended from slaves and Hot-tentots. It's time he realized that he has all the faults and all the virtues of three continents—and all the potentialities."

By coincidence, Dr. J. A. Heese, a former Dutch Reformed Church archivist, has just reached an almost identical conclusion. His finding is that Afrikaners have 6.9 per cent of non-white blood. Dr. Heese based his analysis on birth and marriage registers.

He found that Afrikaners' color-consciousness be anifest in about 1800 — about 150 years after the first Dutch

He estimates that between 1770 and 1807 the percentage of non-white blood among the whites was 13.6 per cent. He says it is "encouraging" for the survival of the Afrikaner that the percentage of non-white blood has diminished since

And Moscow Nice for Tea

Kissinger, who has been arranging President Nixon's visit to the Soviet Union, has run into a samovar problem with the Kremlin leaders. The difficulty arises from his televised appearances in the Soviet Union just as di-verting as his recent appearances in China, In Peking one of the great moments ocwhen the President surprised the television audience by eating his dinner with chopsticks. The president does not want that he has slighted them. He television. For this reason he has been practising hard on the samovar for the past His plan, which Profess

Kissinger put to the Russians, was to preside at a big samovar during a great banquet in the Kremlin and produce the tea for the entire assemblage.

The president has, in fact, become so proficient on the samovar that among the composed for release during his May visit to Moscow is one that begins, "President Nixon last night became the first American president to make tea from a samovar in the Kremlin . . ."

That press release will probably have to be scrapped. The Russians, although insisting that they are willing to go to great lengths to make the trip a success, say they have polled the members of the Central Committee and found instead of tea after dinner. They -say it would be a provocation president to ignore the preference of the majority and concentrate his attention upon the out-of-step few who want * * *

If the president wants to make the coffee, they have told Professor Kissinger, they will not object.

Professor Kissinger has in-quired whether the coffee could be made in a samovar. The Soviet Central Banquet-ing Collective has replied that takes years to learn to ake a good cup of coffee in a samovar. It would be more practical, the White House has been advised, for the president to leave the banqueting hall, go into the kitchen and make the coffee in five 10-gallon vats similar to those used in American drugstores.

Excellent TV camera posi-tions can be arranged by the vats to provide good angles of the president turning knobs, and releasing steaming cof-

Professor Kissinger has told the Soviet leaders that this is not what the president had in mind. He has explained that the president wants to show that he is sufficiently interested in Russian culture to master some aspect of it. The coffee vat is purely American, he protested.

The Kremlin said, in that case, maybe the president would like to tend bar during the cocktail hour. They say the cocktail hour is an old Russian cultural tradition invented soon after the discovery of vodka. The president could master it very rapidly, they said, with just a few hours practice on some vodka and dry vermouth. and dry vermouth.

Naturally, Professor Kissinger said no, and the samovar issue was left unsettled while the Russians and the professor argued about how reception crowd should be.

The Russians, who do not want to be outdone by the Chinese, want the welcomine crowd limited to seven people Professor Kissinger is asking for billions, naturally, he is accustomed to dealing with

The Russians say this is impossible, because their economy is booming so magnificently that no more than seven people can be spared from the factories. Professor Kissinger has replied that the United States will supply its composed C.I.A. agents assigned to the Soviet Union, if the Russians will promise not to take their pictures. He awaits a Soviet Leonid Brezhnev, the head Leonid Brezhnev, the head Communist, has personally intervened in the samovar issue. If the president wants to do something on television to illustrate his mastery of some phase of Russian culture, Brezhnev has suggested the deep-knee-bend position. Brezhnev says this would make for a smashing TV fina-le to a Kremlin state banquet.

Or, he has suggested, the president might like to wrestle a bear. It is not known what President Nixon has decided, but over the weekend bear tracks were seen in the White House Pack December 1

Here's what's different about this nipe. It's the first pipe in the world to use an antirely new principle for giving unadulerated pleasure to smokers. It's so different in amoking quality that its patented in the United States, Canada and other commissions.

It's different than any pipewer invented. It smokes COOLER MELLOWER SWEETER and DRIER. Even dyed in the wool cigaretts smokers find it easier to smoke and enjoy than any pipe, or any cigar they've ever tried. Some say it's as easy as switching from one brand of cigarettes to another.

Give it 30 days

Give it 30 days—
You'll never go back to cigarettes again. No cigarette, no cigar, nor any other pipe can give you the full rich flavor, aroma, deep down satisfaction, enjoyment, and peace of mind that you get from a Carey Pipe.

Here is the way of it; The hazards of cigarette smoking are not new. Long before the Surgeon General issued his nerve shattering report on SMOKING AND HEALTH, evidence that cigarette smoking was associated with Cancer, coronary artery disease, chronic bronchitis, and smphysema, was mounting rapidly. It was then that I decided to switch to a pipe. That was over 30 years ago.

Like most other cigarette smokers I just couldn't tolerate the goo, the bit-terness, tha tongue bite, and that stale, foul, after-taste that results from smoking an ordinary pipe. As a result I dedicated hundreds of hours searching for the ideal pipe—buying all the disappointing gadgets, and never finding a single, solitary pipe that would smoke hour after hour, day after day, without bitterness, bite or sludge. In diagust I gave up and went back to cigarettes—and of course back to COUGHING, WHEEZING, CHOKING.

Thousands of experiments It was then I decided to try to work

It was then I decided to try to work something out on my own, something that would not leave my mouth tasting like the proverbial blacksmith's glove. Thousands of experiments and five long disappointing years later, almost by abcident, I int upon a solution. A solution so simple but so effective that it made smoking a pipe an entirely new and exciting smoking experience. By harnessing four great natural laws this invention gives you everything you want in a satisfying smoke. It doesn't require any breaking in, from the first puff, right down to the last bit of tobacco. I guarantee it to smoke cool and mild hour after hour, day after day, without rest, without bite, bitterness or sludge.

In appearance and in quality, the Garey Pipe is like any of the two or three leading World brands. The bowl is made of the finest selected premium briar, imported especially for this use. The bit is conventional in appearance—made of molded nylon—the newest and finest material for pipe bits. The color and finish are what you would expect in any of the best pipes on the market. It is, in every respect, a pipe market. It is, in every respect, a pipe

Accept my offer to LEND YOU a Carey Pipe for 30 days' trial use. At the end of the trial period, if you say the Carey Pipe has given you the greatest smoking pleasure of your life, you may keep it. But if you are willing to go back to your old smoking habit, break the Carey into bits, return the pieces and the trial will have cost you nothing.

Before I send you your pipe I would like to know the style you prefer so send me your name TODAY and I'll send you absolutely free my complete trial offer including descriptive literature and pipe styles so you can decide for yourself whether or not thousands of Carey smokers are right when they say the Carey Pipe is the greatest smoking invention ever patented.

Remember you have nothing to lose. One hundred thousand doctors have kicked the cigarette habit. YOU CAN TOO, THE EASY WAY. E. A. Carey, Dept. 616D 26 Duncan St., Toronto 2B, Ontario

E. A. Carey, Dept. 816D, 1920 Sunnyside Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60640 Okay Mr. Carey. Send me your complete trial offer so I can decide for myself whether or not your pipe smoking friends are right when they say the Carey pipe is the greatest smoking invention ever patented.

Here's important news for the 3 out of 5 Canadian households that may have at least one of their members in hospital this year.

Along with the excellent government hospitalization plan that takes care of your expenses while in hospital, you can now enroll in CNA/assurance's new after-hospitalization plan that provides extra income to take care of expenses when you're out of the hospital and convalescing.

CONVALESCENCE CASH

The new plan that has tax free extra money waiting for you when you get out of hospital.

VICTORIA TIMES, SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1972 Your entire family is eligible for Convalescence Cash. There are no maximum age limits and acceptance is guaranteed, during this enrollment.

- You can collect $20 a day tax free extra cash for every day you are convalescing. No home confinement necessary to collect.
- You can collect in addition to any other coverage you may have—and you can start collecting immediately.

Choose from these 4 plans that pay you while you or your family are convalescing after hospitalization.

FAMILY PLAN

Pays $20 a day while you are convalescing.

Pays $15 a day while your wife is convalescing. Even for maternity.

Pays $10 a day while your children are convalescing.

INDIVIDUAL ADULT PLAN

Pays $20 a day while you are convalescing.

HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN

Pays $20 a day while you are convalescing.

Pays $15 a day while your wife is convalescing. Even for maternity.

SINGLE PARENT FAMILY PLAN

Pays $20 a day while you are convalescing.

Pays $10 a day while your children are convalescing.

PEOPLE 65 AND OVER RECEIVE 50% OF THESE BENEFITS.

You can collect the above amounts during total or partial loss of time for up to 2 full years, depending on prior hospitalization.

How CONVALESCENCE CASH works.

If you are enrolled in the plan and have been in hospital continuously for 48 hours, you collect the above amounts for every day of convalescence for above amounts for every day of convalescence for as many days as you were hospitalized. There is no red tape—you claim as soon as you come out and we start paying you immediately. And we keep on paying you for up to 2 full years convalescence if that's how long you were in hospital.

This vital protection is a breakthrough in health insurance, For a proper understanding of the benefits and cost of CONVALESCENCE CASH, read the following information carefully.

The high cost of getting better-and how to beat it.

A disquieting fact. Three out of five Canadian households may have at least one member in hospital this year. Residents of Canada spent over 42 million days in hospital last year—this year it may increase. It could be you, your wife, or your children—tomorrow...next week...next month. There is no way of knowing when illness or accident is going to strike.

Fortunately you live in Canada. When you have to go into the hospital you don't have to worry about hospital expenses. Government insurance pays most of your hospital costs. But what about when you come out? You need to spend some time convalescing and getting better before you can resume your usual activities.

Most people will have to spend at least as many days recovering after hospitalization as they spent in the hospital. Now that can be expensive, even if you still have a salary coming in. And if you don't it can be financially distressing.

Now that can be expensive, even if you still have a salary coming in. And if you don't it can be financially distressing. What if you have to spend some time in a warmer climate... could you afford it? Or what if your wife had to stay home from work or needed help around the house, or your children need private tutors to keep up with school work?

These are questions everyone should ask themselves... before it is too late. You'll probably think of a million and one different reasons why one should have seven each one different reasons why you should have extra cash.

And that's precisely why we designed this plan. The profection we call CONVALESCENCE CASH. It helps you beat the high cost of getting better.

CONVALESCENCE CASH pays tax free extra cash directly to you after you get out of hospital.

If you're a single adult, 18 or over, or the head of a family, under 65, CONVALESCENCE CASH will pay you $20 a day for every day you are convalescing, for as long as you were in hospital, up to 2 full years.

And the money is waiting for you as soon as you get out of hospital, all you have to do is have the simple claim form completed and submit it while you are convalescing.

CONVALESCENCE CASH provides special maternity benefits.

If you have the Family Plan or Husband-Wife Plan, you will receive $15.00 a day for each day your wife is convalescing following a period of hospitalization caused by pregnancy, for as long as her confinement lasted, or up to 4 weeks for any one pregnancy (maximum $420) whichever holes. These benefits are paid for pregnancies commencing after the effective date of the policy.

Premiums do not increase with your age.

Once you have enrolled in CONVALESCENCE CASH your remium will remain in your original age classification, gardless of how long you keep your policy.

No medical facts within your knowledge or within the knowledge of each person to be insured are material to this insurance but you should understand the policy pre-existing conditions respecting sickness which will ness or injury for which you are receiving or have recently ived medical treatment or advice

Please read carefully to be sure you understand:

(a) what pre-existing conditions means

(b) when they are covered by Convalescence Cash

(c) how this affects you.

1. (a) Pre-existing conditions means a condition (illness or injury) for which you received medical treatment or advice within 12 months before the effective date of your policy—in this case April 18, 1971.

2. (b) Such pre-existing conditions become covered if you have not received any medical treatment or advice for a condition during any 12 consecutive month period ending after April 18, 1972. And, with Convalescence Cash, in all cases, after your policy has been in effect for 24 months, no condition will be considered pre-existing—all conditions will be fully covered.

3. (c) When you enroll in Convalescence Cashyou have immediate coverage for illness or injury that results in convalescence from hospitalization, with the exception of pre-existing conditions which may not be covered as described above. This means that a pre-existing condition does not prevent you from enrolling in Convalescence Cash for while, as we have explained, a pre-existing condition may not be immediately covered, other illness or injury you may suffer is immediately covered.

There are no maximum age limits.

CONVALESCENCE CASH is especially desirable for people over 65 whether ailing now or not. A single adult or the head of a family will be paid $10 a day each and every day, $300 a month each month for up to 2 full years, if that's how long they are convalescing and were in hospital, Spouses are covered for $7.50 a day each and every day, $225 a month each month for up to 2 full years, depending on the above qualifications. These benefits would supplement your old age pension.

pointed out the provision that requires every offizer to file an annual return to each provincial government declaring all gifts made during the year. The old law required only taxable gifts to be reported. If this is a mistake in the drafting of the legislation, a simple amendment can oure an otherwise Orwellian situation in which everyone situation in which everyone would be reporting their birth-day presents and the like.

One wonders why the gift tax legislation does not allow a credit or deduction for federal and provincial capital gains tax that may become payable when the gift is made, under the new federal and provincial capital gains tax system. It is represent and provincial capital game iax system. It is rumored that such a credit may be in-tended, but it certainly doesn't appear in the legisla-

A standing ovation and shouts for "more" were the shouts for "more" were the audience's ways of expressing its enthuslasm with the University of Victoria Chorus and Orchestra who performed the first of a pair of concerts marking the end of the university musical year. The performance took place in UVic's gym Friday evening and will be presented again tonight at 8:00.

The chorus and orchestra. consisting of some 200 musi-cians under the direction of Dr. George Corwin, per-formed Mozart's Vesperae So-lennes De Confessore and Re-quiem Mass in D Minor. Fea-tured soloists were Catherine Young, soprano, Elinor Ber-tram, contralto, Arthur Wiebe, tenor, and Ronald Bermingham, bass.

With a wave of Dr. Corwin's

The Requiem began quietly with the Introitus played by the orchestra followed by the chorus. A Gregorian melody was sung by Catherine Young in the middle of the movement and then the chorus returned, accompanied by the orchestra. orchestra.

The second section of the Mass, the Kyrie, gradually increased in intensity and ended with the chorus once again singing in full force.

The third section of the piece, the Sequentia, was divided into six parts.

MELODIC SOLOS The first part, the Dies irae, was played with great speed to build the tension which was relieved by the melodic Tuba mirum, introduced by a solo trombone which was imitated by bass soloist Romald Bermingham. Each soloist sang a few phrases separately and then ended the movement as a quartet.

The Confutatis began with a lot of drive, subsided, and then flared up again to lead directly into the Lacrimosa.

The Lacrimosa movement

The Lacrimosa movement has been the subject of great controversy. Mozart died while composing it and the remainder of this movement; and the rest of the Mass, was composed by Mozart's pupil and friend, Franz Susamayer.

Following the six parts of the Sequentia was the Offertorium which was divided into two parts. The rhythmic imitation of the Romino Jesu and the quick repetitive Hostias carried the place right into the next section, the Sanctus. PEAK PERFORMANCE

The overwhelming fullness of the Sanctus quickly changed to the lighter acrenity of the Benedictus, a movement for solo voices.

The seventh section of the Mass, the Angus Dei led beautifully to the last movement, the Lux acterna. In this last section the entire chorus and orchestra reached the peak of the performance. The very last note gradually increased to incredible volume and then ended with the drop

Macmillan Name Again

LONDON (CP) — Maurice Macmillan, 51-year-old son of former prime minister Harold Macmillan, has shot from rel-ative obscurity in Conserva-tive party ranks to one of the most sensitive posts in the British cabinet—and probably the most thankless.

Macmillan takes over as secretary of employment from Robert Carr as part of a major cabinet shuffle announced Friday by Prime Minister, Edward Heath. Heath dropped five members of his cabinet and changed 11 other portfolios, increasing the cabinet's size to 18 from 17.

Carr, who has had to deal with such crises as the recent severe power shortage caused by a coal miners strike, be-comes Conservative House leader, a highly-valued post in Britain. It is the job formerly held by William Whitelaw, now British minister in charge of Northern Ireland.

Two pressing problems face Macomillan immediately: a threatened strike next week by Britain's 7211 waymen which would bring chaos to the country, and an unemployment level of about one million, the highest in years.

Income Tax Processing Speeding Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Income tax returns and refund cheques for overpayment of 1971 taxes are flowing through the revenue department's com-puter faster this year.

A revenue department spokesman said Tuesday that 4.87 million tax returns have been received, compared with 4.41 million at this date last year. Deadline for filing returns this year is May 1.

The department has so far ssessed 2.19 million returns this year, compared with 1.6 million last year.

Refund cheques prepared for mailing so far this year total 1.99 million, compared with 1.47 million last year.

The total smounts of re-funds this year so far has reached $269.6 million. Last year's comparable figure was $183.4 million.

(Except Rolls-Royce.) It's good for 24,000 miles or 2 years, whichever comes first. (Except for normal wear and tear on service items.)

So before whichever comes, we'll replace or repair any factory part that's defective in material or workmanship.

What is profoundly different is the military power that the United States can invoke in 1972 to try to enforce its version of a bearable settlement. Only in the air and at sea does the United States now hold significant military strength.

If the defence department's calculations are right, North Vietnam now has risked putting "80-plus per cent" of its regular armed forces into South Vietnam, as Adm. Policies First In Vote Patterns

Emphasis on the leader of a party as most influential on voting preferences, highlighted during the Ontario election last Fall, is not found among the Canadian voting public as a whole.

More than twice as many voters (42%) say it is the policies of a party which make the most impact in deciding how they will vote, as name the party leader as most important (19%). Moreover the kind of local candidate they have, is named as the main influence by 34%. Attributes of the national leader in vote-getting is a low third on the list of key feature.

tional leader in vote-getting is a low third on the list of key factors.

Policies, are the most influential in making a decision for those who favor the NDP and other parties (54%). This compares with 49% among Liberals, and 42% among PC's. Adherents to all parties put party policies in first place.

Liberals are more likely to consider the national leader as most important to them, with 3 in 10 of this opinion, compared to about 2 in 10 among PC's, and rather less among the NDP and other parties.

It is the Conservatives who give a greater importance to the kind of local candidate they have (37%) than do the Liberals (27%) or the NDP and other parties (32%).

An important consideration lies in attitudes among the large number of voters who are undecided as to how they would vote in a Federal election, currently 26% of the total electorate. These "on the fence" voters put their local candidate in first place (38%) with party policies close to them (32%).

These voters are the least interested in the attributes of the national leader of any party as only 11% put him in first place.

The question:

"In a federal election, which influences your vote the most — the policies of a political party as a whole, the national leader of the party, or the kind of candidate the party has in your own riding?"

National attitudes are compared with opinions of adherents for the main parties in the table below. (These figures add to more than 100% due to multiple answers.)

National Local Can't

I all control of them	Policies		Local Candidate
NATIONAL	42%	19%	34%	12%
Liberal voters	49	30	27	4
PC voters	42	20 -	37	5
NDP and others	54	17	32	5
Undecided voters		11	38	24

While voters are ready to put the policies of a party as the most influential on their voting behaviour, most of them are usually vague when they try to differentiate between parties. As one example, in 1969 the big majority (71%) thought there was no real difference between the Libersl and Conservative parties.

THIS MAN IS BEING 'ZAPPED' IN THE EYE WITH A LASER BEAM

But the technique doesn't hurt him, and it may arrest his growing blindness. Now, use of this laser has been approved for Victoria doctors.

Tras Times Staff Eye doctors in Greater Victoria appear likely to get the latest machine which fires painless bursts from a laser beam into the eye to treat some conditions leading to blindness.

The machine is called an argon laser photocoagulator and will cost $32,000. Operational for about a year, there are very few in Canadian hospitals and none on the west coast.

By DON VIPOND

With it, doctors can stop tearing of the lining at the back of the eyeball, obliterate proliferating blood vessels and sear leaking ones shut, all without entering the eye surgically.

The intense laser beam, which can be focused to a pin-point and fired for as briefly as a hundredth of a second, gen-erates heat to cauterize the blood vessels or produce scar tisue arresting tears in the retina

The retina is the inner lining at the back of the eye which receives light impressions through the lens. A connecting nerve carries the images to the brain.

Patients to be treated by the machine don't have to be admitted to hospital. The photocoagulator looks something like an elaborate microscope. Patient and doctor sit opposite to look into each side.

The laser source is housed in a desk-like console along-side and transmitted to the aiming and firing equipment through an adjustable arm.

Dr. R. L. Wiggins, a local eye specialist, commates 300 to 400 people a year in the Victoria area could benefit from treatment with the argon laser.

The majority would be suffering from disbetic re-tinopathy, a condition currently producing more blindness than any other in North America. Blood vessels on the reti-nas of diabetics tend to spread absormally and bleed, causing

Doctors in the past could just tell patients what they had, then wait for them to go blind. They still can't bring back lost sight but the laser treatment can help prevent it.

Another condition where the laser will be used is macular degeneration, bleeding around the point on the retina which allows fine vision for reading and activities like needlework.

An American study of 194 patients treated with the argon laser showed that after six months 63 per cent showed im-provement 12 per cent showed no improvement and 25 per-cent became worse in spite of the treatment.

Last year a further study of 600 patients confirmed the

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, the provincial agency which rules on such purchases, and an advisory committee to the regional hospital board have both approved in principle buying the argon laser.

The advisory board is awaiting a recommendation from the Victoria Medical Society on where the machine should be located, likely Queen Victoria Hospital.

Quadra and Hillside after the fire: a phoenix would help

By PAUL MOSS Times Staff

For nearly four months now a familiar part of the urban landscape has been missing from a Victoria community. At the bustling corner of Quadra Street and Hillside the passer-by gets a strangely unnfortable feeling on seeing a great empty space where once stood stores, businesses and apartments.

But to the passer-by that's all it is — a physical hole. He dimly registers the impres-sion before driving on to his own neighborhood where, perhaps, another little complex of local stores survives in an age which sees the increasing dominance of large. flashy shopping centres.

To those who live in the Quadra-Hillside area, though, the fire which destroyed the corner block last December did not then the properties of the corner block last December. did more than alter the landscape. It obliterated the very hub of their community.

Like all local drugstores the Hillside Pharmacy acted as a focal point for those who live in the area along Hillside from the Blanshard intersection to Little League Park, and along Quadra from Tolmie to Central Park.

The elderly with prescriptions for their ailments, young mothers seeking vitamins for the family, students wanting to replenish school supplies all came to the store which was in easy walking distance of their homes.

But all that ended abruptly

As far as frequency of buses is concerned, residents of this area are probably better served than most by B.C. Hydro. Through most of the day there are services every 10 minutes to one of other of the main shopping centres.

But time isn't the only factor involved. As a woman as sistant in a Quadra food store put it: "No old person is going to feel like paying half

No one knows whether a new drugstore will ever be built on the site. A spokesman for the Walkey family, which owns the corner property, said Friday a study is being mixture of stores and businesses suited to the Quadra-Hillside area.

One thing is certain: those who live in the neighborhood

Do Those Derbies Really Deplete Salmon Stocks?

I see by the papers that suddenly there are some people up tight over fishing derbies. That figures. But they haven't complained here. Which also figures. And here's why

Particularly, it is the B.C. Salmon Derby that is under fire. It has expanded from Howe Sound to Cowichan Bay and Saanich Inlet, to give Island fisherman a chance at the top

Prime of $25,000.

But that's not what is bugging opponents of the scheme. Nor is it simply the fact that this is a "commercial" venture, and a profit may be realized by the sponsors. Because after all, most derbies, or fishing contests are "commercial" in nature, and please, don't ask for an elaboration.

Another point, I do hear, is that because of the big prize, 25 Gs, this is described as tantamount to an invitation to fraud. This is because one fisherman did try to run in a ringer in a previous event. But he was found out.

There also has been the suggestion that fishing stocks in the

There also has been the suggestion that fishing stocks in the area will be depleted. Forget it. Anybody who wants to fish would probably be out that weekend anyway; and the others aren't likely to fill the boat either. I know.

Actually, B.C. Derby officials have tried to do the right thing with what in other parts of the world are called the "World Salmon Championships". They have co-operated fully with federal and provincial authorities; and also it is said that in Howe Sound, where the derby has been held for the past four years, fishing actually has improved.

Of course, in reality, this has nothing to do with one derby or another, or all of them. Now that the herring are available, so are the fish. That's part of the secret. Besides, would more fish be caught, say, in that "free" derby, than in the B.C. Salmon event? Tag one with a tar brush, you tag 'em all. Only the values change.

Boosting Research, Scholarships

B.C. Salmon Derby officials have not ignored the fact, elther, that salmon are a natural resource, and they are definitely interested in salmon research. The sum of $4,500 already has been allocated for this research, and scholarships have been es-been anotated for this research, and schools have been tablished at the University of British Columbia for this purpose. More contributions will be forthcoming.

Actually, Saanich Inlet was checked very carefully before a decision was made to have the derby extended to these waters, and it is felt by officials that the event will not be injurious to salmon stock as the main run does not usually occur until Sep-

The implication that cheating, or a lack of sportsmanship is invited, is sound in its concept, because all fishermen aren't sportsmen—or when was the last derby when somebody ran across your line in the Inlet, or cut you off at McCurdie Point?—but it is decidedly unfair in the inference that fraud is to be

Actually the derby is rigidly patrolled, better than any actually the derby is rightly partitude, better than all other, and the emphasis is to discourage cheating, rather than encourage it, as any true sportsman undoubtedly would agree. And all prize winners are investigated fully!

There are, and will be other narratives on the subject, such as: all entrants won't fish deep and will take immature stock.

(weekend anglers would anyway); and that: there is, as yet, no way that has been found to prevent small fish from taking hooks; at no matter what depth the hook may be, it can and does catch fish. They do?

He's Got Rocks in His Stockings

No, two B.C. Salmon Derbies later, the handwriting is on the wall. What the locals are afraid of is that they might get shown up. Not by the lack of big fish—they are here—but by one of their very own.

Old "Rocks in a Stocking" Ernie Fedoruk, the Vegreville vagrant, will be in his home waters, and the idea is to put him down quick—before he gets a chance to do his stuff.

Fedoruk? That name should be familiar. Besides being the golf and hockey writer for the Times, he's the best fisherman. Rhys Davis ever taught to handle a rod and use a strip teaser property.

Besides, he should be ready. He's spent the last two derbies

The general viewpoint is that both sides are wrong—the players for striking in the first place and the owners for their way of reacting—and that the game itself and the fans are the big losers.

The Joy of Music and Song

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Perhaps the hills will not resound but the sound of music will create a circle of vibration around the city for 12 days, starting Monday.

As the Greater Victoria Music Festival for 1972 sounds off at 9 a.m., a wide range of music — sung, played, spoken and danced — will fall on "the echoing air."

It will emanate from First United and St. John's Church halls on Balmoral Road, from Newcombe and St. Ann's Academy auditoriums, out of Sir James Douglas elementary, Central, Oak Bay and Lansdowne Junior auditoriums, and, joining the circle Blanshard elementary.

Thousands of people, from budding four-year-old violinists to senior teen bandsmen and adult choristers will be participating in an atmosphere of friendly rivalry, incentive and challenge.

It all begins Monday with piano and vocal sessions, piano accordion and guitar and speech arts that continue right through the afternoon and evening.

And that's the story of the entire first week, except that pipe organ classes join the parade Friday afternoon.

The second week begins with bands and instrumental, strings and dance sessions and in mid-week is joined by school choral classes.

Bursaries and scholarships worth a total of approximately $3,500 are available, also two non-cash prizes and two floating trophies.

The last-named have been competed for annually since the festival began more than 20 years ago.

They are the City of Victoria Medallion, symbolic of the top piano championship and its vocal opposite number, the B.C. Electric Rose Bowl.

These two championship classes are highlights of next Wednesday (Rose Bowl) and Friday (Medallion) evening programs at First United Fellowship Hall.

The valuable Congress of Strings scholarship provides the third championship competition. This occurs in the second week.

This year in May and June, there are also festivals at provincial and national levels.

Local winners, selected by the adjudicators, will be eligible to move on to the provincial and hopefully, national competitions.

Special evening concerts include provincial championship competitions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the speech arts honor performance also on Friday; the dance honor performance and schools classes honor performance in the second week and Festival Highlights convert April 22 at McPherson Playhouse.

There is a panel of 10 nationally and internationally noted adjudicators and literally dozens of people who work backstage, staffing the festival office (in United Church Fellowship Hall) and providing adjudicators' clerks, platform stewards and ticket and program sellers at the several auditoriums.

A program, by the way, giving all the details of the festival, is a good investment and so is a season ticket which provides admission to all festival sessions and half-price admission to the McPherson for the high-lights concert.

. . . the educated lips and tongue and the controlled "column of air" that evokes fine sound from Joan Watson's French horn . . .

. . . the strong, supple keyboard hands of pianist Allen Reiser performing in several open classes including Bach, concerto and sonata . . .

. . . the magic and music of great poetry spoken by young artist Rosalind Scott, a frequent and talented entrant in the speech arts sessions . . .

. . . an ensemble of lovely voices making a joyful sound. The Claremont Secondary School Choir will return from a trip to San Francisco to appear in the festival's choral classes at Oak Bay Junior Secondary on the evening of April 20 . . .

This is the material of a highly auspicious first public performance by vocal stu-dents of the University of Victoria's department of music.

Anyone who has ever sung a note on a stage knows that there is a vast difference between singing some songs in a concert program and singing a difficult score while moving about, acting and reacting in a dramatic production.

Music director Catherine Young and stage director Dale Read, therefore, have much honor coming to them for the remarkable achievement of this student debut.

Another factor that empha-sizes the achievement is that The Medium was staged with-in the limiting facility of Vic-toria Conservatory of Music's

The presence of artists and art objects in the schools fortifies education's allegiance to board culture. Students see daily gram that schools are committed to creative thinking. And with Luis working openly in the school, there is the theatre of watching a work of art grow.

Godfather a Smashing Film

No point beating around the bush: The Godfather is a big, bold, smashing movie that's worth every extra cent of the inflated admission price.

After all, what movieg picture based on a best-selling novel about organized crime? But The Godfather has more gusto than even Brando's ec-entric personality.

This movie has a built-in audience of the milions of readers of Mario Puzo's book and the built-in audience of addicts who'll see anything

And let's not forget to count in the block Italian attendance as well as the people who are nuts about crime

BRANDO . . . at his best

Francis Ford Coppola's film version of the novel is essentially faithful to the book, but the key quality in the movie is the great feeling it has for the ne's as people.

parous, clever and loving eriminals who exist on some inexplicable private energy. Coppola's direction seems leisurely, but it's actually carefully results and the company of the company fully paced.

Though the delightful wedding party which opens the movie seems to last an hour, we never ask when the story gets going. There's no inter-mission in this three-hour film, but it never drags. RAW MATERIAL

Much of the reason is Puzo's strong raw material. Look at what he gave Coppo-

A look at what was ap for organized crime, a period when it became more busi-nesslike and less related to community interests.

Brando performs better than he has in years, as though he wanted this part to be more than just himself. DEATH SCENE

His death scene in the gar-den is particularly fine, comb-ining a delicate poignancy with a symbolic indication with a symbolic indication that the family will continue

But Brando can't dominate the film, it's too big. The best performance is given by Robert Duvall who plays Tom, Corleone's lawyer.

Duyall has kicked around a lot (he was the surgeon who went mad in MASH), and must be one of the most un-derrated actors in the business. Duvall is always crisp, intelligent and slightly mean

STRONG ACTING

Other strong acting jobs come from James Caan who is the volatile Sonny and Al Pacino who is Michael and eventually the next godfather, both Corleone's sons.

The entire cast does fine work in The Godfather, for the proof is that the film almost seems to be alive.

Even the cynicism and depressing deceit of the closing scenes don't cancel the living pulses of this movie.

pulses of this movie.

But the Corleone family is a sociological tumor, thriving on the destruction it creates. The movie reveals the cold rules of this Sicilian-American game, but it also tends to glorify these people.

Their vitality is so striking compared with the banality of most of our lives that we can gloss over the murders, bought affection, the rot and oss over the murders, ought affection, the rot and basic cruelty and crudity which goes with this life.

There's nothing romantic about organized crime. No matter how attractive it can ok on the magic screen.

"The Irish Rovers are the only act I'll bring to Victoria," said Libin. "The town won't support anything more hip. Kenny Rogers and the First Edition sold out everywhere but here; the Bells had only a half sold house in Victoria - I just don't need that kind of trouble!"

The hottest movie around, "The Godfather," is exciting plenty of interest in the music world too. The love theme "Speak Softly, Love" has been recorded by no less than seven artists, including Al Martino who appears in the film. Other notable vessions are by Andy Williams, Ferrante and Teicher, Roger Williams, Hugo Montenegro, and the composer Nino Rota.

We have just about one week, say Victoria Symphony ad-ministrators, to find out how practically based the "love" of symphony lovers is when the chips are down.

Unless there is a substantial financial infusion within the next couple of months, the society will be faced with a retrenchment which can only affect adversely the orchestra's

It costs nothing to express pleasure and delight in the orchestra's present attainment. It costs nothing to be smug and bask in the warmth of strangers' amazed admiration for

But at this moment and up until April 20, when Jack Benny appears with the orchestra on the Royal Theatre stage, Victorians who are genuine in their appreciation have a once-in-a-lifetime chance to help secure the immediate future of the organization.

Will we come through? Or will we be virtually the only city in North America to blow the opportunity?

Benny, a music buff as well as a great comedian, spends part of each year going to the aid of distressed orchestras all

To date he has raised more than $5 million for he takes only a modest sum against expenses. Naturally he expects that a major amount will be realized for the orchestra.

Now with all the regular-priced seats sold out, it's important to reach the people who can and should take up the "special benefactor" seats.

Let's say we contact Mr. John Q. Smith who enjoys the od life in this charming corper of Canada. Us: Good afternoon, Sir. Have you bought your special benefactor seats for the Jack Benny symphony benefit concert yet?

Smith: Well . . . no. Not yet. A hundred dollars is a lot to Us: Sir, a lot of money is what we have to raise or we're in trouble. And we don't have many chances to offer our donors a memorable evening's entertainment plus a star reception in return for their cheque.

Smith: What is the money going to do for the orchestra? Besides paying the musicians' fees?

Us: Well that's pretty important, isn't it? Without competent, highly-trained, hard-working musicians you have no orchestra worthy the name.

As a business man you don't have to be told that if you want quality in anything you have to pay a proper price for Smith: Very true.

Us: And for the rest we must continue to attract more good musicians and solosits — provide more youth concerts — expand into the area of pop concerts. The one thing the orchestra can't do is stand still, for that means inevitable de-

Smith: But what about the grants — Canada Council and all that? Can't we get enough from them to sustain us?
Us: No way. And there's a great danger, incidentally, in

"But we like people abroad to worry about it so they'll think they must come and see it before it falls."

Five million tourists visit Pisa every year, and at least half of them have their pic-ture taken while appearing to prop up the tower with their hands.

Leaning Tower Syndrome

On a clear day - of which there seem to be fewer than formerly — the visitor who climbs the 294 well-worn steps to the tower platform sees smoke billowing from scores of new factories, and heavy traffic on the super-highways in the plains be-tween the mouth of the Arno River and the marble mountains of Carrara to the north.

However, the polution and the traffic that are held re-sponsible for the rapid deterioration of so many of Italy's treasures are not bamed for the tower's problems.

For the last six years an insion has been investigating the condition of the leaning tower for the government. It reported that the tower's main problems are its founda-tions and the subsoil.

According to the threemission submitted earlier this month, the tower is virtually storey tower proved that the monument not only continued to incline one-thirtieth of an inch more every year, but also that it performed a slow

The tower, buit between 1174 and 1350, is 179 feet high and leans 14 feet from the perpendicular. It is generally assumed that the foundations on the southern side started sinking by as much as 11 inches a year during the first stages of construction, and that from the third floor up the architects slanted the tower in the opposite direction for stability.

Italian officials have been discussing ways to save the from toppling since 1910. Three years ago the pub lic works ministry received a $7 million appropriation for consolidation work. The money has not been spent yet.

Over the last 60 years, 200,000 people from all over the world have written the mayor of Pisa on how they thought the monument could be saved or straightened — as if anybody here wanted a leaning tower that did not lean!

Seton Portage Provincial Historic Park has been es-tablished west of Lillooet by the provincial parks branch. Recreation Minister Ken Klernan said the new park, about two acres, commemo-rates the historic "short por-tage" between Anderson and

The trail started at the head of Harrison Lake and was used by gold seekers heading to the Cariboo in the 1860s.
Land for the park was donated by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

After asking for the policeman's own document ("try to read his name and the city where the document was issued"), and identifying yourself, you may ask why you are being detained. "If the reply is vague and evening to are being detained. "If the reply is vague and evasive, it is better not to argue, but follow him to the police station. It is wise, however, to announce that as soon as you are released you are going to report the matter to the magistrate (praetor). If the police are in the wrong, the warning of yours may make them change their attitude," the booklet says.

Once freed, you should go immediately to the practor armed with sheets of "carta bollata" (writing paper printed by the state, with its imprint, sold by tobacconists. No document is legal if it is written on any other kind of paper — even Victor Emmanuel III had to send out to the tobacconist when he wanted to abdicate). State your case on the paper without expressing opinions. When finally you see a mag-istrate you should begin by asking: "Excuse me, but are you the state prosecutor, the praetor, or the investigating magistrate? Is this city in your jurisdiction?" Also, if

At this point, the Vademecum offers a formal closing which it says will save you from being charged with calumny by the police: "illustrious judge, pray tell me if the facts here presented constitute or not an offence. If they do, I want to proceed according to the law against all cording to the law against all those responsible, seeking their punishment by filing a complaint."

While being interrogated, one must give the following information: if you are from another city or country you must explain why, the nature of your work must be given, your military status must be given, and the economic condition of your family stated. Other questions may be rejected until you see a magistrate. However, the Vademecum recommends common sense at this stage: if the pocommends common sense at this stage: if the police's suspicions are groundless, you might as well tell them all they want to know.

Many years ago, 50 or more, we used to make chains with a spool which had nails, in, using string. I have for gotton just how is year done—could you entilighten mee ! with a spool which had nails, in, using string. I have for would love to teach my grandchildren. Mrs. A. S., South Burnaby, B.C.

My Leaflet No. 7162 has the directions for this spool knitting, complete with illustrations on "how to do" it. All you need is an empty cotton spool, one with a fairly large rorchet hook. I used to do this as a child, and was fasinated by the way the knitting came through the hole at the bottom of the spool.

Leaflet No. 7162 also has directions for crochet and macrame belts, as well as the one done by spool knitting.

Reading in an English magazine the other day, I am across this little tit-bit! "When faced with a bore in your home, and don't want to be rude, the answer is pick. It's a cold and chilly Monday morning here in Montreal as I am writing this column. I am so happy that I decided to knit my grandson Jamie a pair of mitts over last weekend. Just in case I forgot to mention it, the mitts for all ages, from two years to adults.

I found them surprisingly quick to do, but then I was only knitting the two years is ze! It's a useful pattern to have though, as there are 10 different styles on the one leaflet.

This week's pattern is a very elegant poncho for evening wear! A poncho like this is the perfect answer for wear over summer dresses too! Crocheted in motifs, A delightful Ardmore estate.

The notion that shorter working hours means more work-free leisure frequently proves myth.

The general trend in organized labor, according to a department of labor spokesman, is towards a reduction of hours per day, rather than days per week.

"People need to learn how to use their leisure," concludes Dr. Laurence Devin, associate director of the University of Victoria's Continuing Education division.

There are obviously many who are anxious to learn.

Skinnies' Can Worry Themselves Thin

Doctors and psychiatrists say flat chesis and skinny learned common personality problems in women than any other causes. In this article FWF correspondent Ian Brown looks at a faced by the 'skinnies' of this world, and offers

IAN BROWN Special to the Times

LONDON (FWF) — A library could be filled over and over again with the books, magazines and newspaper articles offering advice to women about weight-reducing. Almost entirely ignored are the "skinnies" — the women whose problem is how to put on weight instead of how to take it off.

Yet their problem is the greater as the cause tends to be mental rather than physical and therefore much more difficult to cure. Doctors and psychiatrists say flat chests and skinny legs produce more personality problems in women than any other causes. And for the thousands of women for whom underweight brings real mental distress, there are whom underweight brings real mental distress, there are millions who go through life self-conscious about their lamp-

Guilty secrets, sexual problems, trouble at work or in the home—these are the things that keep women thin. Those that worry excessively about their figures are trapped in a vicious circle. While they keep worrying, they'll stay thin.

Nibbles Only Blunt Appetite

If it's not anxiety or illness burning up the food intake, underweight is often caused by the lack of knowledge about how much is being eaten. Nibbling at sandwiches and biscuits throughout the day, for example, can give the impression that one has eaten a lot. In fact, these nibbles only blunt the appetite for the main meals.

Similarly, smoking is a habit that takes the edge off the appetite. It's no coincidence that it is usually the worriers who are the heaviest smokers. Cutting down on smoking will Increase the appetite and thus help to put on weight.

Cigarette addicts should at least try to avoid to do so at mediately before meals if they find it difficult to do so at

Exercise can help to put on pounds as well as take them off, especially if the pounds are to go on in the right places. Individual exercises will tone up individual sets of muscles, a brisk walk increases the appetite, swimming increases and streamlines muscle groups, well-shaped thighs can be at-tained by regularly riding a bicycle and massage plus the application of hot and cold water alternately will improve the e and firmness of breasts.

If you are not entirely happy about your figure, at least make the best of it. Don't think about yourself in upattractive terms such as "skinny" and "scraggy" but in such graceful and complimentary descriptions as "slim," "slender," or "willowy." Always dress in styles that are flattering to a slim figure and remember that millions of women will envy you for being able to wear them.

It also helps to turn your thoughts to all those women who spend a lot of money and time and deprive themselves of the good things of the table, in an attempt to get a figure like yours. So stop worrying-and tuck in.

Heart Disease Deaths Higher for Lib Woman?

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Indence of death from heart is rising sharply American women under 45 and it may be due partly to their success in win-ning jobs formerly done main-ly by men, a team of U.S. fed-eral government medical ex-perts reported Friday.

Their report of an 11 per period of seven years and evidence that the trend is continuing was issued along with a call by President Nixon for preventive steps starting in childhood to combat heart disease, the No. 1 killer in the United States.

At the same time, the Senate a three-year federal program of research and treatment of heart, lung and blood dis-eases. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D.— Mass., would establish 30 new research and treatment centres to be run by the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The measure, endorsed by the administration, is pending in the House of Representatives.

Lifestyle Cause

The report on heart disease among women was made pub-lic by Dr. Theodore Cooper, director of the National Heart prepared at the institute by four doctors specializing in cardiac allments, which claim the lives of more than 650,000 Americans annually.

The report said the in-creased rate of heart disease death among women under 45 might be attributed in part to their changing lifestyle, which was defined to include the jobs they hold, their eating, drinking habits, their leisure activity and environmental in-

Cooper said the trend could not be explained in full yet, but that "with the new women's action programs, many (heart disease factors of the so-called man's world become

Dogged Mother Gets Her Pups

HURRICANE, W. Va. (UPI) - Lady, a Norwegian elkhound, decided she was going to become a mother one way or another. Her owner, Mrs. Hazel Chenoweth of Hurricane, noticed recently that Lady has acquired a puppy, but didn't become sus-picious until two more pup-pies suddenly appeared.

The real mother, a dalmation who lived nearby, seems to have no objections to the arrangement. She drops in now and then, just to see the pups are being well weaned.

The 71-year-old woman, now the wife of a former college professor, clings to an assertion that she miraculously survived the Bolshevik slaughter of the royal family at Ekaterinburg in 1918.

Her claim, however, has never been legally substan-tiated.

All avenues of appeal ap-parently were closed two years ago when the West Ger-

Planned Family By Coercion?

DETROIT (UPI) — Governments may have to use force to control the world population growth, the president of the American Association of Planned Parenthood Physicians said this week.

If voluntary methods of birth control fall, governments may force mandatory sterilization or impose a tax system that rewards small families and penalizes large ones, Dr. Donald Minkler

More than 300 physicians from the United States, Canada, Mexico and India attended the conference called to dis-cuss methods of contraception and population control.

Dr. Clifford R. Wheeless Dr. Chifford R. Wheeless Jr., asociate professor of gynecology-obstetries of the women's clinic at Johns Hop-kins in Baltimore, described a new surgical method for sterilization of women.

He said the new methods in volves sealing of the fallopian tubes with one small ab-dominal incision instead of two. It can be performed under local anesthesia, takes just 15 minutes and would

Dr. Joseph E. Davis, president of the association for voluntary sterilization and chairman of the department of urology, New York medical college, revealed development of a mechanical "on-and-off" male sterilization device.

Davis said a miniscule fau-cet-type valve, made of gold and stainless steel, could be implanted in the sperm-carry-ing tubes in either the "off" or "on" position. The switch could be reversed without dif-ficulty at any future time, he

NEW YORK (UPI) — in a test to find the most powerful allergen for susceptible people among the many things that may be found in household dust, mites came out on top.

Yes, mites! This kind is highly specialized. It subsists on the proteins in the scales from hairy-skin creatures such as humans which are best known as dander or dearbuff. which are best known as dander or dandruff.

Where there is dander, there can be tes. They're too tiny to be visible under most circumstances and are too unobtrusive to call attention to themselves.

If they're around they become ingredients

Major Asthma Cause

They've been found in house dust in many parts of the world, and house dust allergy is a major cause of bronchial asthma and perennial rhinitis or runny nose in children.

Dr. Joseph D. Bullock of Ohlo State University, Columbus, and Dr. Oscar L. Frick of the University of California, San Francisco, did the testing in 24 children with proven allergy to house dust and in consequence given to asthma or rhinitis or both. given to asthma or rhinitis or both to house mite extract. What's more, this extract was 100 to 1,000 times more potent in rousing an allergic reaction, on a weight basis, than the extracts of total house dust. Scientists Complain

All but one of the 24 children were allergic

In their report to a technical organ of the American Medical Association, the scientists complained that house mite research in western Europe and Great Britain is ahead of that in the United States.

Their house mite extract came from England. Techniques for immunizing susceptible people to house mites are being tried out in Europe but are held up in the United States pending approval by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

In households entirely free of accumulated dust, there can be no mites of course, al-danger in their inevitable way.

The scientists estimated that the usual adult will shed five grams a week, mainly while sleeping. Hence the mites, when they're around, are most numerous on mattresses, but in mattresses stuffed with vege table fibres. Mattresses stuffed with synthetic materials, such as foam rubber, cannot

That Magic 1,000 Still Looms Over All

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - In the decade of the 1960s the vi-gorously growing United States economy thrust the Dow Jones Industrial Average to 995 points, the equivalent of a bursting young earth heaving up the Himalayas.

Now, six years later, that eak still is unconquered. No amount of economic upthrust has been enough to plerce the sky, which in this instance is sky, which it has instance is the 1,000-point 'barrier."

To call it a barrier seems trite until you consider that somehow there is indeed an obstacle there—psychological, statistical, actual or imagistatistical, actual or imaginary.

Since the 1960s the economy has grown. Corporate profits have continued to rise.

Recently the index was above 940, a level reached several times affice 1966, a level that is always referred to as one where forces are to as one where forces are regrouped, energies replen-ished for an "assault" on the top. Will it be done?

A clue to the curious behavior of the index may be found other averages. In the last 10 years, for example, the index has failed to double, but the American Stock Exchange Index has more than quadruof smaller, faster growing companies. The Dow Jones index is made up of 30 companies that already have had great growth and now are huge. They represent nearly one-third of the country's inversial government competi-tion bill that will avoid party feels the government shifted away from reform in its hand-ling of the big tax change leg-speed to smaller competitors.

The index is also a weighted measure. In fact, it is an index rather than an average. The relative weight of a stock is proportional to its market price. A big decline in a high-priced stock has greater ef-fect than a similar decline in a low-priced stock.

Tending also to act as a depressant is the fact that expanding companies often split their stocks. When this happens, the stock then has only a fraction of its previous weight, or influence in the over-all index.

John Wright, the statisticsminded founder of Wright Investors Service, notes that in the 1966-68 period the index fell 2.6 per cent from 969 to 944, but that the market price of the 30 component stocks, individually adjusted, showed

Smell of Fear Pervades Ulster

BELFAST (UPI) — The talk is of peace at last in violence-weary Ulster. But the long shadow of the gunman and bomber still easts its blight over the province.

'I can only give you a dam-ed room," warned the desk aged room," clerk at Belfast's biggest, newest hotel.

A "damaged" roof was one with a boarded-up win-dow. The hotel was badly blasted by a bomb set off in a nearby car park three weeks ago, and many of the windows still are without glass.

A second check showed a room with a glass window was available after all.

"But," Colin, the teenage bellhop explained, "perhaps you'd have been better off with a boarded-up window in case of another bombing." case of another bombing.

Many large stores have a "security check" desk as you enter, where women have to open their handbags. Belfast takes its anti-bomb precau-

TALL MAN

IN A HOT SPOT

Neither Bobby Fischer nor the U.S.S.R. is noted for giving things away at the bargaining table. As a consegaining table. As a consequence, a man of strength and diplomacy was needed to iron out the details of the forthcoming World Championship match between Fischer and Russia's Boris Spassky. The man whose position in the world of Spassky. The man whose position in the world of chess made him the automatic choice was Dr. Mac Euwe, a former World Champion (1935-1937) himself and one of the best-liked and most admired figures in chessdom, Dr. Euwe, a Dutchman, is a near giant literally as well as figuratively. He is nearly 6 feet tall and likes to tell the following story:

following story:
"I went to a movie once in London and sat down near the london and sat down near the front. All at once, a voice said loudly: 'Will you sit down!' I assumed he meant me, so I got up from the chair intending to find a seat in the back of the hall—when the same voice boomed out rather an grily: 'Blimey, if he isn't standing on top of his seat now!'

WORDS ARE FOLLOWED BY DEEDS

For years, Walter Browne of Brooklyn was a chess player who tried with indifferplayer who tried with indifferent success to win a place in the winner's box in small open events in the United States. Build Harmony Into Your Garden, and Enjoy It

Last week our subject was fences and hedges. We enumerated some factors to be considered before the home gardener can come to a peasonable decision as to which is best suited to mark the boundaries of the property.

Our main concern was the effect on the garden itself of erecting a fence or planting a hedge. Now we come to the effect on the people who use the garden for outdoor living and relaxation.

Very few gardeners realize the effect certain plants and structures can have on the human mind.

In a strange garden, as a guest or on business, I am conscious of the owner's mental reaction to the place as a le, or to a specific area.

The records show how the tranquility of several gardens has been disrupted by a new fence or a hedge.

Dacca's Non-Bengalis a Nationless People

DACCA (WP) — Dacca's non-Bengali minority population is being squeezed into smaller and smaller areas as their homes are being appropriated by Bengalis.

Killing of non-Bengalis, which took place sporadically first months after esh's independence, has ceased in Dacca, but the non-Bengalis clustered in their enclaves remain a peo-

In Mohaddedpu, a Dacca
s u b u r b, 38,000 non-Bengalis (Biharis) are crowded into five camps, where the lucky families live in tents provided by the Red Cross. Others-have erected filmsy homes of blankets and cotton sheets.

The camps are staggeringly crowded. In one, 16,000 people live within a walled compound about 50 yards square. Their tents cover the roofs of the compound buildings, as well as the courtyard. Ten people are assigned to each tent. The community has 23 latrines, four pumps at which they queue for hours to draw water and their only source of food is the International Red

The Dacca prison was built for about 2,000 prisoners. According to the government, Bangladesh officials announced recently that there are more than 10,000 prisoners there now.

DOG-SKIN TRADE SUSPECTED IN U.K.

LONDON (UPI) - A pile of to a South African business 58 dog skins found alongside a railway track indicates that a racket involving slaughter of dogs for their coats exists in Britain, according to an animal protection official.

A spokesman for the Royal

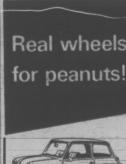

A spokesman for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA) såld Thursday the skins were found in February between Coventry and Rugby.

Disclosure of the incident came a day after the British press gave prominent display man's plans to breed and kill dogs for their skins.

Gerald Calver, chairman of these dogs had been rounded up and killed for this disgusting trade in animals furs.

"We are convinced that people north of here are killing dogs and shipping the pelts on the quiet to London where they are turned into collars and cuffs and used as other fur accessories."

WAC Seeks Restraints By Ottawa

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Friday urged the federal government to establish immediate curbs on interest rates, prices and wages in "the most dangerous inflationary period in the world's history."

In a telegram to Finance Minister John Turner, Bennett promised the full co-operation of the B.C. government in imposing the controls, which he has urged on Ottawa before.

Bennett said Canada's dependence on exports is greater than any other nation's, making this nation more vulnerable to inflation.

PROVO. Utah (UPI) - Police said today they "have a suspect" in the half-milliondollar ransom skyjacking of a United Air Lines jet.

Officers declined to give further information, but a Utah Highway Patrol spokes-man said the suspect was "not be estacky"

The skyjacker parachuted from the jet near the Provo airport and an all-night ground search was temporari-ly called off at dawn. At that time the police said they found "no sign of anything." Several heurs later police said they had the suspect. The hijacker, threatening to explode a grenade, took over the plane a few minutes after it left Denver for Los Angeles. He forced it to fly to San Francisco where $500,000 and

Red Advance Kidnapper In Cuba Slows, U.S. With Loot Ups Forces

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command's offensive slowed in some sectors of South Vietnam today, but gathered steam in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, where rocket, mortar and small ground assaults nearly doubled.

The United States, meanwhile, rushed more planes and ships to Indochina to join a bombing campaign against military targets in North Vietnam.

Most of the Communist ground attacks were aimed at regional and local-force militia outposts which form a defensive perimeter around villages and hamlets.

Field sources said initial reports indicated that casualties were not high, but that many troops were "missing." This indicated that many of the militiamen may have fled, been abducted or willingly accompanied the Communists.

In Washington, news columnist Jack Anderson writes that President Nixon is prepared to use nuclear weapons if the current North Vietnamese offensive threatens the orderly withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam.

Anderson says contingency plans drafted for nuclear war-fare in Indochina have been constantly revised and updated and are ready for use in case dwindling U.S. forces should be pushed into "a Dunkerque-like corner."

SAN JUAN (AP) - A gun-man abducted a Puerto Rican banker Friday, picked up $290,000 in ransom, then hi-jacked a plane and took his hostage to Cuba, the Federal Bureau of Investigation re-

Meanwhile U.S. Defence Secretary Melvin Laird said United States planes will continue to bomb North Vietnam until Hanoi pulls its army back across the so-called demilitarized zone and shows willingness to negotiate seriously.

"The enemy has shown no willingness to seriously negotiate in Paris," Laird told a news conference. "It has shown no movement back across the DMZ (demilitarized zone) and until those conditions are met, of course, we will continue to use the necessary power in order to protect our forces as they withdraw from Southeast Asia,"

At the same time, he said U.S. ground troops will not be ip the han Vietnamese army fight the North Vietnamese offensive.

Justice is Rough in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) - Alberta's justice system appears to be one of the most punitive in North America, perhaps in the entire Western world, says Dr. Victor Matthews, a University of Alberta scientist.

Hundreds of Albertans are jailed each year for offences which would bring acquittal, suspended sentences or probation in other provinces, he said in an interview.

He bases his statements on a two-year research of the 1960-70 period. Results of the project are contained in a 150-page report prepared for the Alberta Human Resources Research Council and released today.

The report shows that a person charged in Alberta is four times more likely to be convicted than anywhere else in Canada, said

The per-capita rate for persons jailed in Alberta was eight times above the national average and was increasing. Alberta Attorney - General Merv Leitch said Friday night Matthews' charges will be closely scrutinized by the government. The minister told the legislature the charges are "very serious" and that changes will be made if a study shows them to be necessary.

"It is the police and the courts which must bear the responsibility for a concept of justice in Alberta that differs significantly from that of Canada as a whole," Matthews

The report says Alberta's rates in almost all categories of the justice system—arrest, charge, court appearance, sentencing and jail—are higher than the rest of Canada.

Dr. Matthews, a recognized authority on statistics and social research, said it's unlikely that increased criminal activity in Alberta caused the differences.

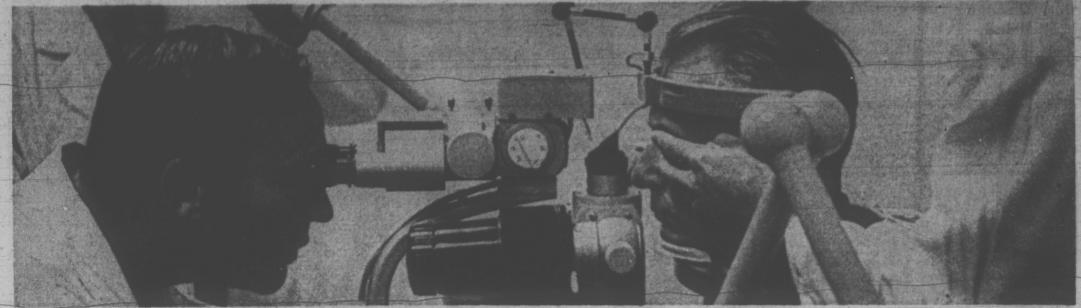

Convictions for serious crimes have de-creased in the province, says the report, and the majority of crime is minor. However, even for minor offences, excluding traffic infractions, a person arrested in Alberta was twice as likely to be convicted than in another province. The pattern was the same for serious crimes, Dr. Matthews said the number of persons pl. Matthews said the number of persons jailed in Alberta between 1960 and 1970 increased 71.1 per cent compared with the Canadian average increase of eight per cent. Population growth in Canada and Alberta was about 28 per cent during those 10 years.

The number of persons jailed in Quebec during that period increased 39 per cent, in Saskatchewan 22 per cent and in New Bruns-wick and British Columbia 16 per cent. THIS MAN IS BEING 'ZAPPED' IN THE EYE WITH A LASER BEAM

By DON VIPOND Times Staff

Eye doctors in Greater Victoria appear likely to get the latest machine which fires painless bursts from a laser beam into the eye to treat some conditions leading to blindness. The machine is called an argon laser photocoagulator and will cost $32,000. Operational for about a year, there are very few in Canadian hospitals and none on the west coast.

With it, doctors can stop tearing of the lining at the back of the eyeball, obliterate proliferating filood vessels and sear leaking ones shut, all without entering the eye surgically.

The intense laser beam, which can be focused to a pin-point and fired for as briefly as a hundredth of a second, gen-erates heat to cauterize the blood vessels or produce scar tissue arresting tears in the retina.

The retina is the inner lining at the back of the eye which receives light impressions through the lens. A connecting nerve carries the images to the brain.

Patients to be treated by the machine don't have to be admitted to hospital. The photocoagulator looks something like an elaborate microscope. Patient and doctor sit opposite to look into each side.

The laser source is housed in a desk-like console along-side and transmitted to the aiming and firing equipment through an adjustable arm.

Dr. R. L. Wiggins, a local eye specialist, estimates 300 to 400 people a year in the Victoria area could benefit from treatment with the argon laser.

The majority would be suffering from diabetic re-tinopathy, a condition currently producing more blindness than any other in North America. Blood vessels on the reti-nas of diabetics tend to spread abnormally and bleed, causing

Doctors in the past could just tell patients what they had, then wait for them to go blind. They still can't bring back lost sight but the laser treatment can help prevent it.

Another condition where the laser will be used is macular degeneration, bleeding around the point on the retina which allows fine vision for reading and activities like needlework.

An American study of 194 patients treated with the argon laser showed that after six months 63 per cent showed improvement, 12 per cent showed no improvement and 25 per cent became worse in spite of the treatment.

Last year a further study of 600 patients confirmed the

An important prelude to treatment with the laser's the diagnostic technique known as fluorescein angiography. A dye injected into the patient's bloodstream enables doctors to outline and photograph the blood vessels of the eye, pinpointing trouble scote.

Lasers have been used for about a decade to treat inner eys problems but none has been as effective as the argon design which produces a blue-green light.

The red light from earlier ruby lasers did not give the necessary color contrast for effective use on blood vessels. The currently used Xenon arc photocoagulator produces a beam of white light, less effective and precise than the argon

B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, the provincial agency which rules on such purchases, and an advisory committee to the regional hospital board have both approved in principle buying the argon laser.

The advisory board is awaiting a recommendation from the Victoria Medical Society on where the machine should be located, likely Queen Victoria Hospital.

The elderly with prescriptions for their ailments, young mothers seeking vitamins for the family, students wanting replenish school suppli all came to the store which was in easy walking distance of their homes.

But all that ended abruptly

No one knows whether a new drugstore will ever be built on the site. A'spokesman for the Walkey family, which owns the corner property, said Friday a study is being made to determine the best nesses suited to the Quadra-Hillside area.

One thing is certain: those including some of the storekeepers — are keeping their fingers crossed that the plans include a drugstore.
